NEW YORK (TheStreet) -- The Knickerbocker Hotel is as original, vibrant and dynamic as New York City itself. An evening at the Knick drew movers and shakers -- politicians, entertainers, musicians and moguls -- it promised energy, extravagance and a chance to be part of something BIG. In fact, when John Jacob Astor IV first opened the doors in 1906, it was fondly known as the "42nd Street Country Club."

Enviably situated on the southeast corner of 42nd street, the Knickerbocker Hotel, overlooks Times Square between Broadway and Bryant Park. The luxury hotel will feature 330 guestrooms, including 40 suites.

David notes the Knickerbocker is a classic reinvented, infusing the history and legacy of a New York landmark with a modern approach to service, design and cuisine. To ensure that level of sophistication the hotel has collaborated with Master Chef Charlie Palmer on the entirety of the food and beverage program. This arch of steel is the bones of the ground-level cafe which will also operate as the second portal entry of the Knick.
